Exhibits at Didsbury Fair Better Than Ever.

The seventeenth annual Didsbury exhibition is over and the officers and directors can congratulate themselves over the fact that the exhibits in almost all lines were bigger and better than any previous exhibition. There was one big drawback over which they had no control and that was the weather. It started to blow hard on Thursday night and on Friday morning the biggest day of the fair the weather man had turned bright warm sunshiny weather into grey cold cloudy skies, a light snow and sleet with a wind so cold that it cut through like a knife and unfortunately, the whole day was the same. This caused a very poor attendance at the exhibition, and the few hundred people who were there only stayed a short time as it was too uncomfortable to stand around.

The exhibition as far as exhibits were concerned was the best that has ever been held at Didsbury and all classes were exceptionally well filled, although in a few departments, such as cattle, a little more competition would be better.

The horse classes were all well filled and as usual drew a great deal of attention to the judging ring. There were seventy-five heavy horses and fifty light horses shown and it is safe to say that the exhibitors who won prizes had their work cut out in winning them out of such a bunch of splendid horseflesh.

The cattle classes were not as well contested although the exhibitors had representatives of their herds in every section which made a splendid showing. Alex. Robertson had a splendid display of Herefords and Mr. Weber another of Holsteins while Dave Boden and McCoy Bros. cleaned up everything in the Ayrshire classes. Dave Irwin and W. Wilson had fine representatives of the shorthorn breeds and cleaned up a nice bunch of prizes. There were several individual exhibits especially of dairy cows, which helped to make the cattle classes a success.

The poultry section was well filled with splendid specimens of the feathered tribe, and it looks as though the new ruling of the society which bars exhibitors from outside of a fifty mile radius is having a good effect in encouraging our local fanciers to make a better showing.

Sheep and swine classes as usual were poorly filled but those shown were aristocrats in their line and there was nothing to do but give them the prizes.

The main building was extremely well filled with the usual exhibits of ladies' fancy work, dairy produce, baking, vegetables, grain and the splendid school exhibit which made a good showing. In fact, there was a scarcity of room in the big building, to accommodate the exhibits properly. An unfortunate fact which

Our Soldiers' Graves.

Practically every Canadian soldier killed on the western front during the great war will have decent burial in a proper cemetery with the grave marked plainly and suitably, says E. J. Glenesk, of Vancouver, who spent several months as Y.M.C.A. secretary, with the Canadian War Graves Detachment until that Unit was disbanded and the work turned over to the British authorities for completion. Mr. Glenesk says the work is being done most thoroughly not the slightest sign that would indicate the presence of a body underneath being missed by the successive waves of men who search every foot of the ground. The Y.M.C.A. had three secretaries with the detachment, each equipped with a moving picture machine, a tent for reading and recreation room, and a canteen.

BERGEN NEWS

Eighty per cent of the crop is harvested and promises the best yield of grain Bergen has ever had.

A light epidemic of the whooping cough has been prevalent so the attendance at the school has been below normal.

John Haug has the contract for building a stable at the school and is quite busy these days commencing the work.

C. J. Erickson and crew are very busy on the Bergen-Sundre road.

This end of the Bergen-Didsbury road has seen great improvements the last 12 months, but we must admit that the culverts are not much to boast about and hope the government will see fit to repair same soon.

O. T. Johanneson has sold his ranch on the Fallen Timber creek to Mr. D. Brown a returned veteran, and intends to move on the old Pearson homestead.

Free range will soon be a thing of the past in this neighbourhood as one load after another of barbed wire is being hauled out.

Good Roads In The West

The article appearing in this column last week dealing with the influence and effect of good all-weather roads upon school attendance, better schools and the development of rural high schools, concluded with a reference to what the Province of Quebec is doing in good roads building and the markedly beneficial effect it is having on agriculture, industry and education in that Province, and how enthusiastically the people there are in support of a continuation of a policy which is creating such an improvement in the life and prosperity of the Province.

What is being accomplished in Quebec is not only of direct benefit to that Province, but indirectly it benefits Canada as a whole, although it must be admitted, the effect will not be very noticeable in these Western Provinces except that, insofar as Quebec advances, the whole Dominion is advanced and benefitted by what has been regarded as our most backward Province, coming in line with the other Provinces. The good roads program of Quebec is a sign of an awakened Province, and these roads will prove a most influential factor in making the Province still more progressive.

The question is: Are the other Provinces of Canada, and more particularly these Western Provinces, going to emulate Quebec's example in respect to good roads construction? It can hardly be doubted but that they will, and the question then arises, how soon are they going to begin to create a system of hard-surfaced main highways? The further question presents itself: Is the present an opportune time for the inauguration of such a policy?

We submit that now is the accepted time, and we propose to give a few reasons for this belief. The Dominion Government has recently provided a grant of $20,000,000 to be paid to the Provinces on a population basis, covering a period of five years, to be expended in highway construction. By the terms of the grant the Provinces are required to spend an even larger sum in order to become entitled to the Dominion grant. That is to say, for every $100,000 supplied by the Dominion, the Province must put up $150,000. As the Dominion agrees to furnish $20,000,000 within the next five years, it means that the Provinces will have to furnish $30,000,000, thus providing a grand total of $50,000,000, or $10,000,000 a year to be spent on highway construction in Canada. Surely, therefore, now is the time above all others to embark on a program of construction of permanent roads, and not merely make-shift dirt roads.

Of this $20,000,000 of Dominion money, the three Prairie Provinces will receive the following amounts: Alberta, $1,478,000; Manitoba, $1,602,000; Saskatchewan, $1,896,000, a total for the three Provinces of $4,976,000—say, in round figures, $5,000,000. The Provinces will be required to furnish an additional $7,500,000, thus providing an annual sum of $2,500,000 for the next five years. If this money is wisely expended on permanent roads, Western Canada at the end of the five-year period will have something to show in good roads, and we venture to predict that the advantages resulting from such highways will lead the people to insist that the good work be continued.

The next question that will present itself is: Can these Western Provinces finance their proportion of this program, or at the same time continue to spend the large sums necessary in these new Provinces on what are pioneer roads and which must be built to enable farmers in remote districts to get to market. Let us take Saskatchewan as an example, and what is true of it is proportionately true of Manitoba and Alberta.

In this present year of 1919 Saskatchewan will derive a revenue from automobile licenses of upwards of $800,000. Saskatchewan's annual grant from the Dominion under the proposed new highways scheme will be $361,200 a year, which will call for a further provincial expenditure of $541,800. Saskatchewan can find this from its automobile license revenue and still have a quarter of a million dollars left over. And surely automobile license moneys should be spent on roads, and good hard-surfaced permanent roads at that.

Furthermore, if our Western Provincial Governments take over full responsibility for the building and maintenance of certain main roads in municipalities, and thus relieve the municipalities of all expenses in connection therewith, the municipalities benefited thereby could, in turn, well afford to pay the small grants of a few hundred dollars they may now receive from the Province. For every dollar they thus relinquish they would receive several dollars back in the form of permanently constructed and maintained main roads.

The largest number of automobile owners in these Western Provinces are farmers. Hard-surfaced roads will extend the period of time in the year that motor cars can be used, and will reduce the wear and tear on the same, thus increasing their value to the farmer. Their greater value and utility will lead to a further increase in the number of cars used, and, consequently, provide a still larger license revenue from which a consistent and ever larger program of good roads construction can be carried on.

The moral of the situation would seem to be that every Western farmer should become a road booster, and should bring all possible legitimate pressure to bear upon the Provincial Government to embark upon a well-planned, progressive policy for the construction of permanent hard-surfaced main roads.

Prohibition Helps

Boston To Save

Save About $100,000 This Year In Cost of House of Correction

Boston.—Boston will save about $100,000 this year in the cost of the House of Correction on Deer Island, as a result of prohibition, it is announced. Already $25,000 of the appropriation granted for the institution this year has been turned back.

Since July 1 the population of the institution has declined rapidly. In 1915, the number of inmates was about 1,100. There are now only 300. One of the prison buildings will be abandoned this winter, and this step will mean a large saving in coal. Although employees have generally received increases in pay since 1915, it is estimated that the cost of Deer Island this year will be only $202,403.36, as against $305,679.78 in 1915.

PAINFUL RHEUMATISM

May Be Driven Out of the System By Enriching the Blood

In the days of our fathers and grandfathers rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as many young people. Medical science did not understand the trouble—did not know that it was rooted in the blood. It was thought that rheumatism was the mere effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not cure the trouble. In those days there were thousands of rheumatic cripples. Now, medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and that with good rich, red blood any man or woman of any age can drive rheumatism, can be cured by killing the poison in the blood which causes it. There are many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, and many who have conquered it by simply keeping their blood rich and pure. The blood-making, blood-enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and it is the more general use of these pills that has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of poor blood, which is shown by loss of appetite, palpitations, dull skin and dim eyes, protect yourself against the further ravages of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have cured thousands of people—if you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"How is your cold, Donald?" "Oh, very obstinate." "And how's the wife?" "About the same."

Completing Pulp Mills

In Two Months Operation Will Probably Be Inaugurated

Victoria, B.C.—The large pulp mills which are being erected at Beaver Cove, up the coast, are fast nearing completion. In two months operation will probably be inaugurated with a product of fifty tons of paper a day. A large number of returned soldiers have been given employment at the plant. A railway for loading the timber will be constructed and work has been started on the townsite. Manager White expects that the new industrial centre will have a population within three years and in time emulate such paper towns as Simpson Bay, Ocean Falls and Powell River. There is a steady market for paper on the Pacific, the United States, Australia, New Zealand and Japan being regular buyers.

Webster On "Morale"

MORALE (Moral) n. (F. See Moral, a) the moral condition, or the condition in other respects, as for as it affects by, or dependent upon, moral considerations, such as zeal, spirit, hope and confidence; mental state, as of a body of men, an army, and like.

HAT is Dr. Webster's definition. Many of us know the word only in its war-time application.

Webster dwells firstly upon the usage of the word "morale" as applied to the common-place happenings of every-day life. His allusion to its reference to an army comes later. And Webster is correct—meticulously so.

It was their private-life morale that made such splendid soldiers of our boys when the time came for them to don the khaki. It was that, and that alone, that made them take the first step, and it was that which carried them through to victory. If their every-day morale had been neglected, the Army could have done little with them and success would not have crowned their efforts.

It is the many little incidents of your daily routine that make up your morale—the morning shave, your clean linen, polished shoes, brushed clothes. Webster speaks of zeal, spirit, hope and confidence. It is by attention to the small details of your personal appearance that these may be attained.

The Gillette Safety Razor enters as much into the morale of every-day life as it did into that of the trenches. It helped our soldiers to maintain their confidence and bearing. It will do the same for you. The Gillette Safety Razor makes the daily shave come easy—there is no pulling or scraping—no honing, or stropping—just five minutes of perfect shaving comfort. And, afterwards, a chin that tells of morale and self-respect.

CANADA PAYS UNITED STATES ENORMOUS SUM

Lieut.-Col. John A. Cooper,
Director of the Official Canadian Bureau of Information, New York City, in the Canadian
Section of "The Sun."

Trade between Canada and the United States is developing very quickly. Our total trade with you is now treble what it was six years ago and ten times what it was twenty years ago.
It is not every business that mul-tiplies ten-fold in twenty years.
In 1899 the total trade between the two countries was less than $130,000,000. In the year ended March 31, 1919, the total was $1,227,000,000. Last year it was even greater.

Now the question everybody is asking is: "Will this enormous trade continue with the same smoothness and satisfaction as at present?" And it is wise that the question should be asked, even if the prophet be unable to see very far into the future.

The chief characteristic of this trade is that the balance is always one way. That has been the case since 1890. In each year since then Canada has had to settle her adverse balance in cash. For many years that adverse balance was only a few million dollars a year, but it has gradually and persistently grown with the development of United States manufacturing.
In 1908 it crossed the hundred million mark for the first time.
Four years later it crossed the two hundred million mark.
Finally the high point was reached in 1916-17, when Canada was obliged to pay the United States $383,000,000 to balance the trade accounts for the year.

When the world's exchange was on an even keel, as it was before the war, Canada was able to make these enormous payments to the United States with ease.
Canada was selling largely in England, and it was a simple matter to transfer moneys owing to her from London to New York and thus liquidate her United States debt. But the sovereign was then worth $4.87;
now it is worth $4.35. Then,
Canada transferred millions from London to New York without loss. Now, Canada loses
$10,000,000 on every $100,000-
000 that she transfers from her British debtors to her American creditors. This is a prohibitive discount, and makes this method of paying debts almost an impossibility.

In the six years ended March,
1919, Canada sold the United States 1,789 million dollars worth of goods. In the same period the United States sold Canada goods to the value of 3,268 million dollars. Thus in six years Canada had to pay the United States 1,579 millions of dollars to balance the account.
This was a considerable task for a country of 9,000,000 people, but every dollar was paid, despite the size of the account and despite the difficulties of the war period. Whether Canada can succeed during the next two years as well as she did during the past six years remains to be

This was bad enough, but when the speaker went on to say that this was God's plan; that there had to be a sacrifice, and that no other sacrifice was sufficient to appease the wrath of Jehovah directed toward those whom He had created, Dave found himself boiling with indignation. If this was Christianity he would have none of it. His instruction in religion had been of the most meagre nature, but he had imbibed some conception of a Father who was love, and this doctrine of the sacrifice of the innocent crushed through all his slender framework of belief. Had he been told of a love which remained steadfast to its ideals even at the cost of Calvary his mindlessness would have responded as to the touch of a kindred spirit, but the attempt to fit that willing sacrifice into a dogmatic creed left him adrift and rudderless. Suddenly from somewhere in his memory came the words, "Then what becomes of the justice of God?" It was Reenie Hardy who had asked that question. And he recalled his answer, "I don't know 'nothin' about the justice of God. All I know is the crittur 'at can't run gets caught." Was he then in sympathy with this doctrine of cruelty without knowing it? No. Not Reenie Hardy had believed in justice and he would believe in the same. He rose from his seat and walked down the aisle and out of the building, oblivious to the eyes that followed him.

His feet led him to the river, running brown with the mud of spring. He sat on the gravel in the warm sunshine, and tossed pebbles into the swirl flowing water. . . . He had determined on a new road, but how was he to find the road? Enthusiasm had never been kind to him, and he was just beginning to realize its power in shaping his destiny. He was dissatisfied, but he did not know where to find satisfaction; he was bewildered, and nowhere was a clear path before him. He was lonely. He knew a room where a little game would be in progress; he arose, brushed the gravel dust from his Sunday clothes, and wended his way down town.

A crowd was entering the theatre which he had attended the night before. He looked at it wonderingly, as by statute the theatres were closed on Sundays. Still, it was evident something was going on, and he went in with the others. No tickets were required, and an usher showed him to a good seat.

It was not long before Dave realized that he was in a Socialist meeting. He knew rather less of Socialism than he did of Christianity, but the atmosphere of the place appealed to him. They were mostly men in working clothes, with tobacco or beer on their breaths, and in their loud whisperings he caught familiar profanities which made him feel at home. When the speaker said something to their liking, they applauded him; when he crossed them they denounced him openly. Interruptions were frequent, and sometimes violent, but Dave admired the spirit of fair play which gave every man a chance to speak his mind. Through it all he gathered that there were two great forces in the world, Capital and Labor, and that Capital was a selfish monster with a strangle-hold on Labor and choking him to death. No, not quite to death, either, for Capital needed Labor, and therefore only choked him until he was half dead. Also there were two classes of people in the world, the Masters and the Slaves. Dave was a Slave. He had never known it before, but the speaker made it quite apparent.

"But I'm not a slave," said Dave, suddenly springing to his feet. "I can quit my job tomorrow, and tell my boss to go to hell."

There were boos and cat-calls, but at last the man on the platform made himself heard.

"And what will you do, my friend, after you have quit your job?" he asked, quite courteously.

"Get another one," said Dave, without securing the trap. "There's lots of jobs."

"That is, you would get another master," said the Socialist. "You would still have a master. And as long as you have a master, you are a slave." And Dave sat down, confused and wondering.

After the main address there was a sort of free-for-all. Half a dozen sprang to their feet, each seeking to out-talk his neighbor, and it was with difficulty the chairman obtained order and established a sequence of events. An old man in the gallery read loudly from Victor Hugo while a speaker in the orchestra declaimed on Single Tax. Finally the old man was silenced, and Dave began to learn that all the economic diseases to which society is heir might be healed by a potion compounded by Henry George. Another in the audience started to speak of the failure of the established system of marriage, embellishing his argument with more than one local incident of a salacious nature, but he was at last required to give place to a woman who had a more personal grievance to present.

"You talk about your masters and your slaves, and your taxes and your marriages," she cried in a shrill voice that penetrated every corner of the building. "I can tell you something about masters and slaves. I'm hearing everywhere that what this country wants is population; that is the talk of the politician, and the learned men, that are supposed to know. Now, what is the country doing for those that bring the population—not from the slums of Europe, that is not what I'm asking—but for those that bring the native-born population—the only population that doesn't have to be naturalized? I'm the mother of six, and what has the country done for me but leave me at the mercy of those who charge more for an hour's attendance than my old man can save from a month's drudgery? And then, with my health broken down—in the service of the State—I have to go to the hospital, and they tell me I must have an operation, and I wake up with a horrid pain and a bill for a hundred and fifty dollars. All done in an hour, or less, and that's the bill, or part of it, for the hospital dues and the extras and electrics are still to come. Masters and slaves! More than I can save in a year, or two years, and no one to say whether it will do or not. When my kitchen pipes are plugged a plumber fixes them and charges me a dollar, and if he doesn't do it right he has to do it over again, but when the human pipes go wrong the plumber charges a hundred and fifty dollars, and if he doesn't do it right he collects just the same, and the undertaker adds another hundred. Now I don't know whether this comes under the head of Capital or Labor or Single Tax, but I do know it is outrageous extortion—extortion of blood money, imposed by the wealthy and prosperous on the poor and the sick and the unfortunate, and while the State clamors for population it does not raise a finger to protect those who are bringing the native-born."

During this philippic Dave had turned toward the woman; her thin face still wore marks of refinement and even his uncultured ear recognized a use of English that indicated a fair degree of education. But she was broken; crushed with the joint cares of motherhood and poverty, and desperate at the injustice of a system that capitalized her sacrifices. He had heard much talk of slaves, but here, he felt, he saw one, not in the healthy, well fed men with their deep mutterings against employers, but in this haggard woman from whose life the lamp of joy had gone out in the bitterness of suffering and physical exhaustion.

He spent the rest of the day alone, thinking. He was not yet sure of any road, but he knew that his mind had been made to think, and that his life was bigger that night than it had been in the morning. He must not find the right road at once, but he could at least leave the old one. He felt a strange hunger to understand all that had been said. He felt, also, a tremendous sense of his own ignorance.

It was his first glimpse into the world of reason, and it charmed and invited him. He would follow.

He went early to bed, thinking over all he had heard. His mind was full, but it was happy, and, in some strange way, fixed. CHAPTER SEVEN Fortunate fate, or whatever good angel it is that sometimes drops unexpected favors, designed that young Elden should the following day deliver coal at the home of Mr. Melvin Duncan. Mr. Duncan, tall, quiet, forty-five was at work in his garden as Dave turned the team in the lane and backed them up the long, narrow drive connecting with the family coal-culm. As the heavy wagon moved straight to its objective Mr. Duncan looked on with approval that heightened into admiration. Dave shoved his load without remark, but as he stood for a moment at the finish wiping the sweat from his coal-grimed face Mr. Duncan engaged him in conversation.

"You handle a team like you were born to it," he said. "Where did you get the knack?"

"Well, I came up on a ranch," said Dave. "I've lived with horses ever since I could remember."

"You're a rancher, eh?" queried the older man. "Well, there's nothing like the range and the open country. If I could handle horses like you there isn't anything would hold me in town."

"Oh, I don't know," Dave answered. "You get mighty sick of it."

"Did you get sick of it?" Elden shot a keen glance at him. The conversation was becoming personal. Yet there was in Mr. Duncan's manner a certain kindness, a certain appeal of sincere personality, that disarmed suspicion.

"Yes, I got sick of it," he said. "I lived on that ranch—eighteen years, and never was inside school or church. Wouldn't that make you sick? . . . So I beat it for town."

"And I suppose you are attending church regularly now, and night school, too?"

Dave's quick temper fired up in resentment, but again the kindness of the man's manner disarmed him. He was silent for a moment, and then he said, "No, I ain't. That's what make me sick now. I came in here intendin' to get an education, an' I've never even got a start at it, except for some things perhaps wasn't worth the money. There always seems to be something else—in ahead."

"There always will be," said Mr. Duncan, "until you start."

"I suppose so," said Dave, wearily, and took up the reins.

But Mr. Duncan persisted. "You're not in such a hurry with that team," he said. "Even if you are late—even if you should lose your job over it—that's nothing to settling this matter of getting started with an education."

"But how's it to be done?" Dave questioned, with returning interest. "Schools an' books cost money, an' I never save a dollar."

"And never will," said Mr. Duncan, "until you start. But I think I see a plan that might help, and if it appeals to you it will also be a great convenience to me. My wife likes to go driving Sundays, and sometimes on week-day evenings, but I have so many things on hand I find it hard to get out with her. My daughter used to drive, but these new-fangled automobiles are turning the world upside down—and many a buggy with it. They're just numerous enough to be dangerous. If there were more or less they would be all right, but just now every horse is suspicious of them. Well—as I saw you driving in here I said to myself, 'There's the man for that job of mine, if I can get him,' but I'm not rich, and I couldn't pay you regular wages. But if I could square the account by

HISTORY IN CATTLE BRANDS

Romance, not unmixed with tragedy, might be written about the cattle brands of Texas and the South-west. Around them have centred many thrilling deeds. They have been the means of bringing swift retribution to a host of outlaws; they have served as the basis for transactions involving the sale of untold millions of head of cattle.

The records of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association show that there are more than 8,000 registered brands in this State, says an Austin correspondent of the Los Angeles "Times." No two brands are alike. Usually each brand represents a separate ranch. It is often the case known by the brand of its cattle than by the name of the owner, that a ranch is much better known by the brand of its cattle than by the name of the owner. When Hernando Cortez conquered Mexico, in the early part of the sixteenth century, he established a ranch upon the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. The cattle bore his brand. Although that was nearly 400 years ago the cattle upon that ranch to-day bear the original Cortez brand.

The origin of the cattle brand dates back to the dim dawn of history. In the days of free grass and open range the brand was an absolute necessity in order that the owners might identify their cattle in the annual round-ups. With the coming of wire fences this necessity was largely obviated, but the brand served still to place guilt upon cattle thieves. This purpose is still served and this fact accounts largely for the retention of the brands by all of the ranchmen.

Ingenious methods are sometimes used by cattle thieves to change existing brands upon stolen stock. Most of the members of the Texas Ranger force are experts in the matter of detecting the disguising or changing of brands.

The cattle brands of some ranches are an intangible asset of great value. These brands have come to stand for honesty in breeding, honesty in weight and honesty in dealing, just as the heraldry of knighthood stood for honor, for bravery and for noble deeds and accomplishment. The announcement that cattle of a certain brand are offered for sale is often sufficient guarantee so that no precautions against fraud of any kind are taken.

In the record of brands every letter of the alphabet is represented, and most letters are found in three or four positions. One exception is "O," which has but one shape, in any position, and therefore can be used only once. True there is the "O" flattened at the sides, but it is called a mashed "O," a link or goose egg.

"N" is another letter that is not susceptible of many positions, for horizontally it is a "Z." "I" is another letter with a limited use. It is seldom seen except in combination with other characters and is usually called a bar. "C" and "K" are examples of letters that are used in four positions. For example, an ordinary "K" makes one position. Turn it to an angle of 45 degrees and you have the "tumbling K"; on its back, horizontally, the "lazy K," and reversed, a fourth position. There are lazy and tumbling brands in all letters except "O" and "I."

But when the cattle business becomes general and instead of 100 ranches there are thousands, new brands must be devised. The seeker for a brand naturally gets an insignia different from that of other ranchmen, else the brand would fail of its purpose. So in the latter days the letters were finally all taken up and the necessity for individual and unique brands has led to many a strange device.

For example, there is the "Spur" ranch, the "Turkey Track" ranch, the "Tumbling K," or the "Lazy X." Every ranch has its principal brand, and some have many others. Ranch-owners who trade extensively, and who are constantly acquiring cattle with different brands, have a number of insignias on record. Often the ranchmen's sons and daughters have their special brands, and the dedication of a new brand is not an unusual form of celebrating a birth on the range.

Norah was a new servant in the employ of the Brown family, and she had not been twenty-four hours in her place before she had the misfortune to drop a piece of roast beef on the floor. Roast beef that had been used as a mop becomes just a little gritty to the taste, and so Norah thought it a part of wisdom to consign it to the garbage can. "I think, Norah," remarked Mrs. Brown, coming into the kitchen later in the day, "that we will have some of that roast beef cut cold for supper." "Sure, and Oi'm sorry, ma'am," responded Norah, contritely, "but the cat got it when Oi wasn't lookin'." "The cat got it!" exclaimed the mistress, with a surprised expression. "What cat?" "Oh, save us, ma'am!" replied Norah in great consternation. "Ain't there no cat?"

The Why? of Another Victory Loan

WHEN, on the morning of November 11th, 1918, the guns were hushed and glad tidings flashed across the world, there followed with the Nation's Prayer of Thanksgiving, one yearning query, which found echo in the faster beating hearts of wives, mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts. That query was, "How soon will our boy be home?" And, from France and Flanders, from Italy and Egypt, from Palestine and from far-off Siberia, there came an answering echo, "How soon, how soon, may we go home?"

CANADA caught the spirit of these longings, and at once resolved to satisfy them. It was an appalling task. Shipping was tragically scarce. The composition of the Army of Occupation had not then been settled. And other parts of the Empire as well as Canada were looking for the speedy return of their men.

THE problem was this. The half-million men that Canada had overseas had taken more than four years to transport to the field of battle. To bring them home in a few months was a gigantic undertaking—one to tax all Canada's ingenuity and resources. Canada solved the problem, but it meant crowding into a few short months, an expense for demobilization which it was impossible to foresee.

THEN, too, besides the sentimental aspect of the necessity for bringing the men home quickly the economic side could not be overlooked. That was, to transform efficiently and speedily the nation's army of fighters into a national army of workers.

Need Divides Itself in Two Parts

Obligations to Soldiers

The answer to the question "Why does Canada need another Victory Loan?" divides itself into two parts. (a) To finish paying the expenses of demobilization, and the obligations we still owe to our soldiers. That already incurred cost of bringing home troops from overseas. The payment of all soldiers still undemobilized. This includes more than 20,000 sick and wounded who are still in hospital, and who of course remain on the Army payroll till discharged. The upkeep of hospitals, and their medical and nursing staffs, until the need for them is ended. These three items alone will use up at least $200,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1919.

Gratuities

There is also the gratuity which has been authorized, and has been and is being paid to assist soldiers to tide over the period between discharge and their re-adjustment to civil life. For this purpose alone, $61,000,000 must be provided out of the Victory Loan 1919, in addition to the $59,000,000 already paid out of the proceeds of the Victory Loan 1918.

Land Settlement

Furthermore, soldiers who desire to become farmers may, under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, be loaned money by Canada with which to purchase land, stock and implements. The money so advanced will be paid back; meantime each loan is secured by a first mortgage. Up to August 15th, 29,495 soldiers had applied for land under the terms of this Act; and 22,231 applications had been investigated, and the qualifications of the applicant approved. For this purpose Canada this year requires $24,000,000.

Vocational Training

For this work which, with the Vocational Training and Soldiers' Service Departments, embraces the major activities of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, an appropriation of $57,000,000 is necessary.

Those who give thought to our outstanding obligations to soldiers, and to our need for national working capital, cannot fail to be impressed with the absolute necessity for the

These national expenditures are war expenses. They will be accepted readily by every citizen who gives thought to the task which Canada faced following the Armistice, and to the success with which she has met it.

National Working Capital

Canada needs national working capital, so that she may be able to sell on credit to Great Britain and our Allies the products of our farms, forests, fisheries, mines and factories. You may ask "Why sell to them if they can't pay cash?" The answer is, "Their orders are absolutely essential to the continuance of our agricultural and industrial prosperity."

The magnitude of these orders and the amount of employment thus created, will depend upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919.

The "Why" of Credit Loans

Farmers and manufacturers (and that includes the workers on these orders) must be paid cash for their products. Therefore, Canada must borrow money from her citizens to give credit, temporarily, to Great Britain and our Allies. Actually, no money will pass out of Canada. If Canada does not give credit, other countries will; and they will get the trade, and have the employment that should be ours, to distribute amongst their workers. And remember, we absolutely need these orders to maintain employment. If we don't finance them business will feel the depression, employment will not be as plentiful, and conditions everywhere will be adversely affected.

For Transportation

Money must also be available to carry on the nation's shipbuilding programme, and other transportation development work. For loans to Provincial Housing Commissions who are building moderate priced houses.

These, then, are some of the things for which Canada needs national working capital. She is in the position of a great trading company, and her citizens who buy Victory Bonds are the shareholders.

Would Free Land From All Tyranny

London.—Premier Lloyd George, speaking before the International Brotherhood Congress, as was expected, did not touch upon many of the important questions in which the nation is deeply concerned.

The Premier was given an enthusiastic reception, and began by saying that a political platform was not involved at the meeting. "If I made a political announcement," he added, "I should feel that I was outraging the hospitality of the brotherhood."

He expressed the hope that all armaments would disappear and that the long drawn misunderstandings between Ireland and the rest of the kingdom would also pass.

"I am looking forward," he continued, "to seeing waste in all forms disappear and a new Britain springing up—a really free land, free from poverty, from the tyranny of mankind over mankind. Some people seem to think that I have accepted the position of leading counsel for the old order. Rather than that, I would throw up my brief tomorrow."

Concluding with an appeal for fair play among all classes, he exclaimed:

"It is not sufficient to say we have won the war. We want to reclaim the wildernesses of the world, and redress wrongs. That is due to the immortal dead. They died for the redemption of the world."

Thomas Howell, a Canadian delegate, in seconding the vote of thanks to the Premier, said he understood Mr. Lloyd George intended to visit the western world. In this case, Mr. Howell said, he hoped the brotherhoods of the United States and Canada would have an opportunity to greet him on their platforms.

Mr. Lloyd George, in acknowledging the vote, referred to the possibility of a visit to America.

Kingston Editor Goes to Saskatoon

Kingston, Ont.—J. Courtland Elliott has retired from the Whig editorial staff to accept the position of assistant to Prof. W. British Profiteers Dared London.—The profiteering act, despite its defects, seems to have had a rapid frightening effect, for prices have already dropped in several districts.

Some local bodies refuse to appoint commissions to administer the act locally, but the refusal is generally followed by indignant protests from the inhabitants.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. I relieved me from my troubles."

so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MAINE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

Sir Oliver Lodge on Atomic Properties

Hopes We Will Not Know Their Power Yet

Birmingham, Eng.—Sir Oliver Lodge, the eminent scientist, in an address at Midland institute in connection with the memorial ceremonies held on the occasion of the one hundredth anniversary of the death of James Watt, inventor of the steam engine, again touched upon the subject of atomic properties of matter.

Sir Oliver declared that the first utilization of atomic properties of matter was in wireless telephony. He added that if the atomic energy of an ounce of matter could be utilized it would be sufficient to raise the German ships sunk in the Scapa Flow. He said, however, that he hoped the human race would not discover how to use this energy until it had brains and moral strength enough to use it properly, because if the discovery were made before its time, and by the wrong people, this planet would be unsafe.

German Troops For Baltic Front

All Warnings of Allies Are Disregarded in Monarchic Designs, Vorwaerts Asserts

Berlin.—The assertion is made by the Vorwaerts correspondent that the German militia in the Baltic provinces is rapidly growing and that officers and men are arriving there daily from Germany. Even the smallest places in Courland are strongly occupied.

Posters displayed in the office of Staff Captain Stoewer, at Bausk, Courland, says the correspondent, read:

"Death for the kaiser and the empire against democracy. We had rather die than be dishonored." "Pretense is being made of the dishonour of a few units," the correspondent adds, "but troops are being transferred to Admiral von Roon's army."

School Lands For Soldiers

Manitoba Lays Six Million Acres of Unimproved Lands Before Men

Winnipeg.—By an order-in-council passed, Acting Premier Hon. Edward Brown and the provincial cabinet placed six millions of acres of unimproved farm lands on the market for returned soldiers. This is the greatest move made by the government up to the present time for the re-establishment of returned men.

The order-in-council provides for the establishment of an arbitration board to determine the price the province shall receive for its land. Geo. A. Metcalfe, administrator of succession duties for the provincial government, will act as arbitrator for the province of Manitoba. The federal government will also name a member of the arbitration board.

The land which has been thrown open is all unimproved, much of it suitable for farming. The land is known at the present time as provincial school lands. The value placed on it in the public accounts of 1918 is $13,000,000.

Fiume Isolated By Italy

Investigation Has Shown That Plan Originated in Venice

London.—Fiume has been isolated from the world by the Italian government, which is apparently taking steps to meet the situation that has arisen through the action of Captain d'Annunzio in forcibly taking possession of the city and in forcing allied and Jugo-Slav forces to leave. The veil of the censorship was drawn, and since that time little has been learned of events in the city.

Investigation of the incident has shown, according to advices, that the plan to seize Fiume originated in Venice, the prefect of which city is said to have been involved.

Will Bring Down The High Prices

Judge Robson States That Price Probe Will Cover All Necessities

Winnipeg.—Judge H. A. Robson, chairman of the board of commerce, declares that drastic action cutting down the cost of necessities will be taken by the board of commerce just as soon as the evidence at the different probes has been taken.

No advance on necessities will be tolerated, he said, and the board aims to prohibit the sale of all fancy bacon. The retailer who takes a profit in excess of one cent per pound on any sale of sugar is liable to prosecution. This applies to Winnipeg dealers and is not limited to the East, Mr. Robson emphasized.

Regulations covering all packing plants and including such products as butter, eggs, cured meats and cold storage products in general will be drafted shortly. The order will be very definite, Mr. Robson said.

The board will deal with all necessities of life, including food and clothing, Mr. Robson said. Prosecution will be made in every case where there is violation of the set profit by dealers. The board itself may impose the fines or instigate criminal proceedings against the guilty parties.

Mr. Robson was not ready to give an outline of the provisions to be made for checking up on violations of the board's orders, but declared that every complaint brought to the board would be fully investigated and dealt with immediately and to the full extent of the law.

Cost of living probes are about to be instituted in Calgary, Edmonton and Regina, Mr. Robson said. He has just wired the appointment of men to take charge of these probes. Major Duncan Stewart will conduct the hearing in Calgary, S. W. Fick in Edmonton, and James S. Rankin in Regina.

Irish Daily Newspaper Is Suppressed

Cork Examiner Accepted Announcement for Prospects of Irish Loan

Dublin.—The determination of the authorities to repress all manifestations of republican activities is shown by the suppression of the Cork Examiner, one of Ireland's chief daily newspapers.

Although it is a constitutionalist organ and opposed to the Sinn Fein, the Examiner printed a page prospectus of the republican loan, assuming, it is declared, that the prohibition of references thereto which existed under the censorship lapsed with the withdrawal of the censorship.

The military authorities, however, retain full powers, and raided the premises and removed part of the plant. The same advertisement was offered to the Dublin dailies, which refused the risk.

Ten Regiments To Defend Fiume

Italian Nationalists, Although Suppressed, Are Still Aiding in Movement

Rome.—D'Annunzio's force, according to the Idea Nazionale, consists of ten regiments, in addition to four battalions of Fiume volunteers. He has occupied a fortified line around Fiume as a strategic position.

The citizens are supporting d'Annunzio, the newspaper adds, and are determined to destroy the town should resistance prove impossible. The Nationalists are organizing demonstrations throughout Italy in favor of d'Annunzio. The government, however, is energetically repressing these.

Death of W. C. Gurney

Toronto.—W. Cromwell Gurney, president and general manager of the Gurney Foundry Company, Limited, died from heart failure while in the office of his physician. He was a son of the late Edward Gurney, founder of the Gurney Foundry Company, whom he succeeded in the presidency of the company, and was in his 46th year.

Million Pounds Of Bacon In Storage

W. F. O'Connor Anxious to Know If Price Cannot Be Lowered

Toronto.—W. F. O'Connor, K.C., vice-chairman of the Board of Commerce, proposes that Canadian consumers of bacon shall have an opportunity to get in some of the bacon sides which have been exported to the old country and sold at comparatively low prices. He intimated, after E. C. Fox, general manager of the William Davies company, and J. A. Nelson, superintendent of the Davies' retail stores in Toronto, had given evidence, that a million pounds of this commodity is at present locked up in the Davies plant, awaiting a day on which the English consumer has used up the supply of Wiltshire sides he has on hand, would be coralled for home consumption.

To Mr. Fox's explanation that this was inferior bacon to that sold in Canada, and was sold at less cost in consequence, Mr. O'Connor wanted to know if it were not possible to sell the cheaper bacon in Canada. "We have come to the stage," he declared, "where the other bacon is too expensive."

Mr. Fox said the Canadians would not buy the cheaper bacon that was sent to England.

"It may be worth while to test with this million pounds to see if you have difficulty in disposing of it," retorted Mr. O'Connor.

"Certainly, we would be glad to try it," he added.

The commissioner told Mr. Fox that the Canadian consumer was not getting a square deal when his bacon cuts were regulated by European famine prices. "Personally," he said, "I think it would be a good thing in Canada for those in control to say to the producers of bacon, 'You have got to supply your Canadian trade at fair prices before we allow you to forfeit that stuff out of the country.'"

Mr. Fox repeatedly denied that the William Davies company was interested in any packers' combine. "Then why is it," asked Lieut.-Col. Price, counsel for the board in the enquiry, "that the prices remain about the same for one week in the stockyards?"

"I suppose because we all know about what the other fellow is doing and we all have the same selling margin," said Mr. Fox's reply.

Mr. Fox promised to produce a chart giving detailed information as to costs, selling prices and profits.

Superintendent Nelson, of the Davies company, said his efforts were directed toward keeping prices down and getting the volume of business. The higher the selling price of any commodity, the less his concern could make out of it, he said.

At the conclusion of Mr. Nelson's testimony, Commissioner O'Connor said:

"You have undertaken to say that you are not making any profit. We will find out what the profit is before we are done here."

To Allay Unrest

Less Likelihood of a Railway Strike Among Shopmen

Toronto.—There is little likelihood of labor trouble among the railroad shopmen on the Canadian railroads, according to J. Clarke, schedule representative of Canadian railroads for the International Union of Boilermakers, the headquarters of which are in Kansas City.

Mr. Clarke is in Toronto at present to allay unrest among railroad shopmen, who are uneasy because of the delay in dealing with their grievances, which came before the Canadian Railway Board in May and were deferred until the demands of the United States railway workers were satisfactorily settled.

Russian Front Combined

Paris.—Through the capture of Onega by the anti-Bolshevik forces, communication has been established between the allies on the Archangel and Murmansk coast fronts.

Paris.—Ten thousand French troops are to be sent into Armenia through Mersina and Alexandretta, according to an understanding reached by the British and French for a realignment of their forces in Asia Minor. These troops will replace the British troops for the most part, and while the number is not large enough to keep up a line of communication far north into Armenia, it is generally agreed the French will have a steady effect on the Armenian situation, even if they do not proceed far north of Mardin (Mardin) and the line of the Bagdad railway.

The interior of Armenia is mountainous and military men are agreed that a force of 10,000 probably cannot risk an extension from the Mediterranean to Erzerum, Trebizond and other points near the Black Sea, where the Armenians are hard pressed by the Kurds, Turks and Georgians. It is not known how soon the French forces will be able to reach Alexandretta and Mersina.

Stamping Out Profiteers

British Government Classes Profiteers With Rats and Other Vermin

London.—Charles McCurdy, parliamentary secretary to the Food Minister, declared that the government classes profiteers with rats and other vermin, and is determined to stamp them out. Mr. McCurdy was speaking at the opening day of the administration of the new Profiteering Act and alluded to the new Canadian statute dealing with a similar evil.

Criticism against the English act is mainly on the ground that it will never touch the big profiteer, but merely render the small trader liable to espionage and persecution. Meanwhile, street markets are increasingly instituted in the crowded streets. Their establishment is frequently followed by a drop in prices at the neighboring shops.

The lack of housing accommodation is certainly as vital a problem as profiteering.

Riga Peace Meeting

Copenhagen.—An important conference has been in session at Riga regarding not only peace with the Soviet government in Russia, but the formation of a Baltic federation, according to advices from Latvian sources. There has been no actual acceptance of the Soviet government's terms, but, on the whole, it appears that the Baltic federation has materialized to the extent that an agreement has been reached for a customs union of Latvia and Lithuania.

Soldiers Are Homeless

London.—Houseless ex-soldiers at Newport, Monmouthshire, interrupted the borough council meeting, protesting from the gallery. There were, they claimed, 600 homeless families in the town. Liverpool corporation is spending £22,000 in converting army huts into private dwellings. Other local authorities are also attracted by this temporary solution.

Marshal Foch Lost Only Son

Paris.—Marshal Foch has recently asked the Belgian government to have a search made for the body of his son who was killed in August, 1914, in the Belgian Ardennes.

Marshal Foch has religiously refrained from mentioning his lost son and few knew that the younger Foch was killed earlier in the war.

Wonderful Wireless Tests

New London, Conn.—A radio experiment made off New London, in Long Island Sound by the experimental station, naval section, established communication, both telephone and telegraph, between a hydroplane flying nearly 2,000 feet in the air and a submerged submarine several fathoms in the water.

Exhibition at Didsbury

was remarked upon by nearly all the visitors was that the dust had settled so badly on the exhibits, especially the baking, and it seemed to be the opinion that some provision be made in the future to at least protect the good exhibits.

The school exhibits were all very good and showed painstaking care and ability on the part of both teachers and pupils in the displays.

The Didsbury schools exhibit contained some splendid pencil and crayon drawings, but the writing exhibits did not seem to be up to last year. Springside, Clovermount, Neapolis, Elkton, and Rosebud schools all had fine exhibits which also included vegetables in their makeup and helped to make a very interesting section in this building.

The Department of Agriculture through its Agricultural School at Olds conducted a school fair of its own this year in conjunction with the annual fairs of the towns in the district, but Mr. G. R. Holton, who has had charge of this department, stated to a representative of the Pioneer that it had not proven a very great success as the exhibit was merged in the larger fair and the children's work could not be shown nor could they get the instruction as well as if they were held separately which he thought would be done another year.

The amusement end of the exhibition was looked after by a separate committee outside of the fair board and they certainly managed to put on an exciting program of horse races and football, although the weather was so cold that the spectators had to keep moving to keep warm. There were some very good horse races which caused a lot of excitement especially in the running race. The football match between Didsbury and Carstairs was a close game from start to finish but it ended in a score of 3-4 in favor of the local men.

NOTES OF INTEREST

There were only one or two "merchants" from outside doing business on the grounds, one selling dolls and the other of the usual fowling stamp, but neither fleeced the public of much money.

The heavy wind of Thursday night caused the W.C.T.U. and Bill Farrington a loss of business on the grounds on Friday by blowing down their stands.

The Women's Institute were the only ones in the ice cream and confectionery business.

We will start to publish the complete list of prize winners for the whole exhibition in next week's issue of the Pioneer.

It is hoped that out next exhibitions will be provided with music of some kind. It's rather flat without.

It is not known definitely just yet how the Society will come out financially this year because of the poor attendance caused by the bad weather, but one thing is sure there will not be much surplus funds.

Finally, its up to the public of this district to support the Society by becoming members and boosting. The officers and directors cannot carry on without your assistance and support.

The Secretary-Treasurer J. V. Berscht was, as usual, a busy man, not only on fair day, but for some days previous, and that the fair was a success from the exhibition standpoint, was as much due to his work as to anything.

Canada Pays

seen. If Great Britain and the other countries of Europe were now able to pay Canada in cash securities for her exports to them there would not be the slightest difficulty in settling New York balances; but the European situation is not yet very clear at the moment.

It is only fair to point out that, during this six years period, when Canada had to pay the United States 1,579 millions of dollars, United States capitalists were helping the situation very materially by making investments in Canada and by purchasing Canadian securities. It is estimated that these investments and purchases totalled about 700 millions, thus reducing the balance actually paid in cash to about 879 million dollars. Of this 700 millions 590 millions were invested by Americans in Government, municipal and corporation bonds.

Trade is mutually beneficial. Canada benefits by being able to sell the United States large quantities of goods every year. The United States benefits by being able to sell Canada even larger quantities of goods. But because Canada sells the United States less than the United States sells Canada, and because of the world wide disturbance of exchange, the Canadian dollar is worth only 95 cents at the present moment. Naturally this situation worries Canada and is a menace to the expansion of trade between the two countries.

Just what will happen is hard to foresee. Canada's enormous resources are being rapidly developed. Her people are frugal and her savings have increased very rapidly during the war. Despite the enormous sums that her people have subscribed for war bonds—the amounts totalling more than 1,400 millions of dollars—her bank and savings deposits are much greater than at any time in her history. Nevertheless, Canada's foreign trade is affected by the same influences that affect the foreign trade of all other countries; and by the extremely delicate situation in foreign exchange.

The general relations between the two countries during the war period have been the most satisfactory. Canada, as an integral part of the British Empire, appreciates the splendid services the United States has rendered to the cause of freedom, and hence is fully sensible of the desirability of maintaining the close friendship that now exists.

The Source of the Discontent

Much of the discontent of wage-workers has come of the apprehension they felt lest prices should outstrip pay. If they can be convinced that prices have halted they will feel positive relief in many cases in spite of having their pay remain what it is.—New York Sun.

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to the corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shivers the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

Hundred Bushels To Acre

Eighteen Acres Yields 1,800 Bushels of Oats on Portage Farm

Portage la Prairie, Man.—Eighteen acres of oats yielded one hundred bushels per acre on the Fulton farm at Oakland. The land had received careful attention, but the total of 1,800 bushels was a surprise even to the producer. The oats were of the ordinary Banner variety. The land on this farm has been cropped for 40 years, and a return of this quantity indicates the marvellous soil quality of Portage Plains. The oats sold at Oakland on ear at 82 cents per bushel.

Indemnity for New Zealand

Ottawa.—The statement attributed to Premier Massey that New Zealand expects to receive £10,000,000 indemnity from Germany is the subject of comment among members, and there is likelihood of questions in the house as to what Canada's share is likely to be. London.—A royal warrant has been issued substantially increasing army pay. Second lieutenants are to receive £394 and £448 sterling annually if married and £320 to £375 if unmarried; lieutenants, £448 to £503 if married, and £375 to £420 if unmarried. Captains and majors receive equivalent increases. A colonel is to receive £1,242 if married, and £1,184 if unmarried. The increases given to men are unchanged from those already announced.

Certain morbid conditions must exist in the stomach and intestines to encourage worms, and they will exist as long as these morbid conditions persist. To be rid of them and spare the child suffering, use Miller's Worm Powders. They will correct the digestive irregularities by destroying the worms, conditions favorable to worms will disappear, and the child will have no more suffering from that cause.

More and Better Stock More and Easier Profits Less Hard Work

Isn't that what you would like, Mr. Farmer?

If you farm the old way it can't be realized. The old way means old buildings, improperly ventilated, poorly lighted, in bad repair, and inconvenient in arrangement and possibly location.

With such a plant it is almost impossible to work hard enough or long enough to make money.

THE NEW WAY OF FARMING calls for the most modern barn that can be planned and built. The three big requirements are:

1. Plenty of fresh air.
2. Plenty of light.
3. Plenty of room.

And all so carefully arranged that the desired amount of stock can be housed, fed and cared for with the least labor and feed cost.

That kind of a barn helps its owner to make money without killing himself with overwork. If your barn doesn't measure up to that standard let us help you plan one that will—no charge for such plans.

Potatoes are a surprise to the growers this year because of the unfavorable weather at the beginning of the season. Reports are that they are yielding well and are exceptionally large. Andy Gertz had one hill with forty potatoes on it and some of the plants are yielding very large potatoes, one which he handed to the Pioneer weighing over three pounds. From the two town lots which he planted he expects to get 100 bushels.

Didsbury Exhibition

COMMUNICATED.

The stallion show was a good one and we should give them first place on our grounds, for there is where we get our show stock from.

We were pleased to be favored with some of the high-classed pure bred Clydesdale owned by Chas. Brown, from Westcott. Charlie says he could not get a bed one night but some of our Didsbury friends assured him that they would give him a bed free of charge if he would favor us again next season. Come again, Charlie.

There are some other pure bred Clydesdale breeders in the community but they don't show up. Come, come, don't let Fulkert bluff you out, even if he has a few fine prize winners.

And what shall we say of the ladies of Didsbury and community. Bakings and canned fruits, fancy work and garden produce. Well, they speak for themselves, for we saw a large crowd hanging round the show tables all day. What would our town be without the ladies?
